

Results that get results.

The Catalyst® Cortisol Test has built-in results interpretation.

- + Interpretation supports multiple cortisol runs and multiple protocols, including the ACTH stimulation test and dexamethasone suppression tests, meaning each interpretive comment is highly tailored to your test-specific results.
- + Simplifies cortisol interpretation. Cortisol testing is less complex when you have result-specific interpretive comments and clinical considerations built-in and seamlessly integrated alongside other patient results to support diagnosis during the patient visit.
- + Get clear next steps faster—no need to work through the algorithm or chase down consults.
- + Get direct access to IDEXX experts, from infield support representatives to board-certified specialists, for personalised real-time guidance—any time you need it.
